COMPOSILITE EXF Technical Service

COMPOSILITE® EXF non-steerable lift axle suspension system product family is the next generation of lift axle suspension systems engineered for enhanced durability and performance. Technical advancements enabled Hendrickson to take this concept from theory to the road. Inset lower beams help to optimize lateral stiffness and eliminate the need for V-rods. Zero-torsion rubber bushings help provide increased service life and lower cost of ownership with reduced downtime.

Hendrickson Technical Publication H904 is intended as an overview listing key technical procedures, service and maintenance instructions, owner's manuals, parts lists and warranty information that support Hendrickson Auxiliary Axle Suspension Systems' COMPOSILITE EXF product family.
